© Commonwealth of Australia 2018

This induction kit is not intended to be comprehensive. It is designed to assist in gaining an understanding of the Registered Organisations Commission and its work. The Registered Organisations Commission does not provide legal advice.

Dear Officer,

Welcome and congratulations on your choice to nominate for office in a registered organisation.

The role of officer - be it a Committee of Management member or President, Secretary, Treasurer or Director - is an important one.

Officers of unions and employer associations are entrusted with guiding their organisations. They do this by making decisions in the best interests of their members. This is also at the core of what the Registered Organisations Commission (ROC) is interested in.

After all, unions and employer associations belong to, and are funded by their members. Your time in office affords you the opportunity to serve the members of your organisation. You can do this best by having the right skills and knowledge to do the job, which in turn will help you in building trust and confidence with your members. Also, as organisations receive a number of benefits upon registration they need to fulfil a number of obligations.

Officers are responsible for ensuring that organisations and their branches comply with the obligations under the Fair Work (Registered Organisations) Act 2009 (RO Act). You need to become familiar with these. For many of you, it will be the first time you have personal obligations and the risk of civil or criminal penalties for not complying with a body of laws that apply to your role as an officer.

The ROC has put together this Officer Induction Kit to assist you with the types of responsibilities, timeframes and considerations you need to be aware of. While the kit does not cover everything you need to know and is intended as a guide only, it does include information on common requirements and duties. In this kit you will find material to quickly help you better understand your specific office and any duties you have in your organisation. Naturally you will also need to refer to, and have a good working knowledge of, your organisation's rules for specific requirements and current procedures.

Officers can be responsible for many things, such as financials and keeping vital records, and the team at the ROC can assist you and provide advice in relation to those duties.

Please have a look through this induction kit. I hope you find the information beneficial to your role. A small investment of time now will serve you well in your new role. Further information is available on the ROC's website - www.roc.gov.au - or please feel free to contact a member of the ROC team by email regorgs@roc.gov.au or phone 1300 341 665.

How to use this induction kit

This induction kit has been provided by the Registered Organisations Commission (ROC) for use by new and returning officers. It is intended to assist officers to learn their obligations.

This induction kit is not a comprehensive list of the requirements, obligations and responsibilities of officers. It is a beginning. Officers should ensure they review the Fair Work (Registered Organisations) Act 2009 (RO Act), materials on the ROC's website and their organisation's rules and policies.

The induction kit is not a static document to be downloaded once, printed and handed out to officers as they are elected or appointed into the future. The documents in the induction kit will be altered as and when the law changes, in response to feedback or when more helpful information becomes available.

As such, the bulk of the induction kit is available through the list of hyperlinks that form the index. These hyperlinks will take you to where the most up to date document is contained on the ROC website. These documents include fact sheets and tools, like the regulatory timeframes calculator.

The induction kit also contains a number of activities for new officers to complete that will assist in understanding their fuller responsibilities and where information is located.

The ROC's website contains further fact sheets, templates, guidance notes, checklists, tools and webinars, broken down by topic, to assist officers and their organisations/branches to comply with the legislative obligations.

The ROC also has a subscription service which provides up to date information to officers and other stakeholders.

If you have any questions please email the ROC on regorgs@roc.gov.au or contact us by telephone on 1300 341 665.

General descriptions of offices in registered organisations

Organisations registered under the Fair Work (Registered Organisations) Act 2009 (the RO Act) are democratic organisations run by persons elected to hold office.

What powers and duties do the offices in my organisation hold? (s. 141(1)(b)(i))

The RO Act requires the rules of organisations to provide for the powers and duties of committees and the offices (s 141(1)(b)(i)). Therefore to find out the powers of duties of offices in your organisation you must refer to your rulebook.

A general guide about what you might expect in your rulebook

What follows is a general guide about the types of duties that you might find in your rulebook for particular offices. Your organisation may have all or some of these offices and they may have the same or different powers and duties. Please refer to the rules of your organisation for the specific requirements and responsibilities of these offices. If the specific requirements of your rules are different to the general information below, please follow the requirements in your rules.

President

The President generally provides leadership, vision and direction and ensures that business is properly conducted. The President is required to have sound knowledge of the organisation in order to ensure that regulatory requirements are adhered to and that policy is applied correctly. The President can establish effective procedures within the confines of the rules, delegate responsibilities and supervise the implementation of decisions. The role bears significant responsibility, accountability, governance and authority in accordance with the law and the organisation's rules.

A President's role may incorporate the following:

- Senior leadership role
- Overseeing the operation of the organisation
- Ensuring strong governance, in accordance with the law and the organisation's rules
- Possessing sound knowledge of the organisation, its rules, policies and procedures
- Presiding at meetings, ensuring compliance with policy and procedures
- Representing the organisation externally
- Leading on the resolution of any internal disputes
- Acting within the confines of procedure and policy
- Acting as a signatory

Please refer to your rules to find out about the President's role in your organisation.

Vice President

The Vice President generally supports and assists the President as well as other officers with their duties to ensure goals are met. They should be conversant with the President's role so that they can assume the duties and responsibilities of the President in their absence. The Vice President works closely with the President to co-ordinate activities, communicate and implement strategic visions, guide committee members and ensure the efficient management of the organisation.

A Vice President's role may incorporate the following:

- Senior leadership role
- Ensuring strong governance, in accordance with the law and the organisation's rules
- Possessing sound knowledge of the organisation, its rules, policies and procedures
- Providing support to the President and other officers
- Assuming the role of President in their absence
- Performing other responsibilities as assigned by the President
- Acting as a signatory

Please refer to your rules to find out about the Vice President's role in your organisation.

Secretary

The Secretary generally manages administrative functions and leads negotiations. The position is often the main contact point and source of information for members. The Secretary deals with correspondence, maintains records, consults with members and convenes events and meetings. They support the office in the management and application of proper work procedures. They are usually the officer responsible for lodged documents and making declarations on behalf of the organisation.

A Secretary's role may incorporate the following:

- Senior leadership role
- Keeping the register of members
- Ensuring strong governance in accordance with the law and organisation's rules
- Possessing sound knowledge of the organisation, its rules, policies and procedures
- Responsibility for the effective administration of the organisation
- Acting as the main point of communication
- Dealing with correspondence
- Convening and attends all meetings of the organisation
- Preparing reports, notices and meeting agendas (in consultation with other officers)
- Distributing full and accurate minutes and papers
- Maintaining an up-to-date copy of the rules
- Arranging for information, membership and financial records to be properly kept
- Lodging documents and applications with the Fair Work Commission and the Registered Organisations Commission
- Ensuring all statutory obligations are met
- Leading negotiations
- Acting as a signatory

Please refer to your rules to find out about the Secretary's role in your organisation.

Assistant Secretary

The Assistant Secretary generally helps and supports the Secretary in the day-to-day running of the organisation. They need to be familiar with the Secretary's role so that they can assume the duties and responsibilities of the Secretary in their absence. The Assistant Secretary works closely with the Secretary to co-ordinate the administrative functions, help in dealing with correspondence and record keeping, assist in convening events and meetings and ensure generally the efficient management of the organisation in accordance with its statutory obligations.

An Assistant Secretary's role may incorporate the following:

- Senior leadership role
- Ensuring strong governance in accordance with the law and organisation's rules
- Possessing sound knowledge of the organisation, its rules, policies and procedures
- Providing administrative support to the Secretary
- Assuming the role of Secretary in their absence
- Performing other responsibilities as assigned by the Secretary

Please refer to your rules to find out about the Assistant Secretary's role in your organisation

Treasurer

While all officers may be ultimately responsible for spending and expenditure, the Treasurer particularly guards against unwise and improper expenditure. They are responsible for the day-to-day financial management of the organisation and for maintaining accurate financial records to ensure compliance with statutory requirements. The Treasurer reports regularly to the organisation, providing the case for responsible expenditure, and updates members periodically on matters related to funds and financial performance.

A Treasurer's role may incorporate the following:

- Senior governance role
- Ensuring strong governance in accordance with the law and organisation's rules
- Possessing sound knowledge of the organisation, its rules, policies and procedures
- Overseeing the day-to-day running of finances
- Checking accuracy of financial statements, accounts and records
- Managing accounts, financial planning, budgeting and banking
- Overseeing an annual audit of finances and provision of report to members
- Advising the organisation of any or potential non-compliance
- Ensuring members are properly informed of financial performance and financial position
- Acting as a signatory

Please refer to your rules to find out about the Treasurer's role in your organisation

Committee of Management Member

Committees of Management determine the direction of the organisation. Members function within a set of objectives and procedures and ensure standards are consistently met. They prepare and monitor the organisation's policies, strategies and plans, and ensure that resources are allocated appropriately within the rules. Members execute strategies in relation to key issues affecting the organisation. The Committee of Management might be referred to in your rules as the Board, Executive or Council.

The role of a member of the Committee of Management may incorporate the following:

- A leadership role
- Ensuring strong governance in accordance with the law and organisation's rules
- Possessing sound knowledge of the organisation, its rules, policies and procedures
- Developing and implement policy
- Overseeing the management of the organisation
- Keeping members informed
- Considering and making alterations to the organisation's rules

Please refer to your rules to find out about the Committee of Managements role in your organisation

Acting officers

Assistant secretary, vice president and other officers may from time to time step up to act in the role of a more senior officer due to a temporary absence. In order to be able to exercise the powers of the role, for instance lodging documents as an acting secretary, the rules must provide for the ability to 'act' as the other officer.

Please refer to your rules to find out about the ability to act within another officer's role
